Updated: April 5, 2020

Dear Parents,

We hope you had a great weekend. This week is a special one because it is Holy Week, and today marks Palm Sunday. Please read through the notes below as we look forward to another week of learning together.

Notes and Reminders:

- At-home learning continues tomorrow, Monday, April 6, with new lessons and assessments posted by 7 am each weekday. This will continue through at least May 1.
- We saw some great chain reactions last week! Look for your next STEM challenge in your Teams account on Thursday, April 9. Your child's teacher will also let you know about any live sessions for this week in your Teams account.
- Look for a survey regarding our at-home learning set-up on Wednesday. We value your input and will use your feedback as we continue planning in the coming weeks.
- This Holy Week, Divine Savior Church will have online worship opportunities for both Good Friday and Easter Sunday. You can find that and other resources for spiritual encouragement on the website, as well as, at-home resources from the DSKids program.
- Please continue to let us know any questions or concerns you have. We are here to help.
- The next email update will be sent out on Tuesday, April 7.

We pray for God's continued blessings to your family in the coming week. We close with the following prayer:

Merciful God, as we enter Holy Week, turn our hearts again to Jerusalem, and to the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. Continue to strengthen our faith that we may not only praise you with our lips, but may follow you with our hearts as well. Keep us focused on your unconditional love and forgiveness that was paid for through the death and resurrection of our Savior, Jesus. We pray this in your Son's name. Amen.

Blessings,

The DSA Administration
